Year 4

This week, Year 4 have continued to learn about poems, in particular Tanka texts, we looked at the features and the structure of this Japanese poem. Each traditional poem consists of 5 lines and a syllable formation 5-7-5-7-7 and have included nouns, adjectives, verbs and adverbs to make our poems interesting.

Crash at Two A.M.

I opened my bedroom door

A white cat ran by

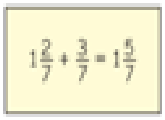

Startled by the clanging fall

Of the treat jar's metal lid

In maths, we have continued learning about fractions. We have learned about proper, improper and mixed number fractions and how to convert between them and used this knowledge to add and subtract fractions.

Multiplication National Assessment

Remember to practice your times tables using the link below. The more you practice the better you will become.

https://mathsframe.co.uk/en/resources/resource/477/Multiplication-Tables-Check

The assessment is fast approaching

In science, this week we continued to learn about our digestive system. We consolidated our learning about the journey our food and drink when we eat. We named the parts (organs) of the digestive system and their functions. In addition, we undertook a practical session including role-play (donning appropriate PPE) on how our food travels thought our body through the stomach and let's say out to the wilderness!

Residential Visit: ARTHOG

All the arrangement have been completed and we are just ready to go on Wednesday. You all have received a letter with the final details on it but will just remind of the some details. Dress ready to go to Arthog (no school uniform), normal school day start, bring medication (if required), spending money, packed lunch in a plastic bag separate from their luggage (children who are free school meals, a pack lunch will be provided) and a drink.

Children who are not going to Arthog, Miss Brotherton has arranged a sensational outdoor learning experience at school, so you too come dressed for outdoor activities (no school uniform for you on Wednesday). Let the adventure begin!

Have a lovely weekend.

Miss Brotherton/ Mr Baker