As we move into week 6, the weeks have gone so fast. Once again, the feedback about behaviour and how they are presenting themselves in the classroom and around school is amazing.

In English, we had been writing non-fiction work and writing a diary in the first person imagining we are the character Stanley from the book 'holes' using descriptive and ambitious words to describe setting and characters.

In reading, once again we have been reading extracts from 'holes' by Louis Sachar and have completed a number of comprehension tasks, finding information from the texts given and giving answers using full sentences.

In maths, we have been learning multiplication, division, factors and primes of numbers to help us solve calculations and problems.

In science, we are coming to end of our topic light, finally looking at the parts of the eye, their functions and how are eye works.

Homework
Homework will be sent home every Thursday.

PE
We have PE on Wednesday and Thursday. Well done to everyone who came to school in their PE kits this week!

Future Information.

Arthog: A meeting is proposed and just waiting for an idea date to have a final meeting just to recap on information given last meeting and final details before we start the adventure.

Have a wonderful weekend!
